to all of us,
roll call#8 is ready for pick up. The scoresheets for chapter 7 are ready for pick up. I have put the quiz and key for chapter 15 (business cycles) in your respective mailboxes. If you have time, read the posted articles by Prescott and Summers. They are a nice complement to chapter 15. Jingtao (section 5), Michael (section 1) and Ryan (section 4) will take this Thursday’s and Friday's labs on chapter 15. Check the questions asked frequency distribution prior to your presentation. Details as to the final examination have been posted on the Web. Print it please. Georgi and Michael will proctor the section 1 section (Thursday, 18, 7:30 am.). Sherry and Ryan will proctor the section 4 section (Wednesday, 17, 7:30 am.). Kevin and Jingtao (Thursday, 18, 9:45 am.) will proctor the section 5 section. I will be initially present at all exams, prepare the exams, take the exams to class, bring scoresheets and instructions etc. Proctors should take the completed exams and tests to my office or give them to Donna. Jay will pick up the completed scoresheets at my office. Masakazu has the week off. Sherry and Ryan will arrange among themselves for a final exam review session to be held for section 4 on Wednesday 10 at the regular time in the regular Gillman class room. Kevin and Jingtao will arrange among themselves for a final review session for section 5 on Thursday 11 at the regular time and place in Design 101. Michael and Georgi will arrange among themselves for a final exam review session on Thursday 11 at the regular time and place in Carver 101. Check the message under important dates for coverage and number of MC questions (80). The bulk of these 80 questions will be based on past quizzes and the more difficult questions among those quizzes. Prepare your presentations accordingly, emphasizing fundamentals. Be responsive to questions students may ask. I will take care of a number of specially arranged exams. The department will arrange for departamental make up exams on Thursdays and Fridays. The scoresheets of these exams will be forwarded to Jay. If you have any questions let me know, thanks, Ike

PS. no class on Friday December 12.
